

Kerralee is derived from the name of our three daughters

Kerralee is a five acre vineyard 29km from Canberra. The vines are grown in granite based clay loam at 570m elevation. The vineyard, planted in 1999, consists of Merlot and Pinot noir.

The vineyard is a family based boutique enterprise with four generations contributing to its development. This involves intensive vine maintenance, netting and hand harvesting.

Some vintages have been named for different generations, and recent vintages have been named for grandchildren.

The focus at Kerralee is to produce quality fruit for winemakers and supply boutique wine for restaurants. We hope you enjoy the wine produced from our special place in the Canberra District cool climate wine region.

Merlot

Deep ruby colour with a lovely clean nose of dark fruits, oak aromas and a touch of spice. The wine has a nice long, smooth finish and is well worth the indulgence.

Pinot noir

Ruby in colour, the nose is clean with prominent aromas of strawberry and red plum. Medium bodied with a good length. This is a delightful example of regional Canberra pinot noir.
